Week Free From Developments.

After a substantial rise in stocks on the first two days of the week, based principally on short covering, the market settled down into a routine affair, with little in the way of either speculative effort or price movements to relieve the monoto-The week was singularly free from developments of influence on the securities market. Outside interest, mildly stimulated by the sharp break of a few weeks ago and the subsequent recovery, died out again, and such movements of stocks as occurred were traceable to the activities of professional operators.

Sentiment became more bearish as the week advanced, and the market drifted slowly downward, but the movement was Pacific's rise early in the week. President Wilson's message to Congress on currency reform likewise failed to influence the market, owing to publication of the currency bill itself prior to the delivery of the President's message New issues of securities, aggregating approximately $35,000,000, were brought out in this market during the week. The high rates which borrowers were com-pelled to pay disclosed the continued tightness of money for long dates, in splte of the further inflow of cash from the interior and the huge reserves which are being accumulated by the banks.

COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 28.-The cott market opened steady at an advance of to 5 points on old crop months, whi new crop positions were generally a point lower. Reports that a considerable particle of the cotton tendered yesterday has been taken by Idverpool houses and buying of August and July by foreign of the cotton tendered yesterday has been taken by Idverpool houses and buying of August and July by foreign of the cotton tendered to the cotton tendered local spot houses accounted for strength of the near position, while t late months reflected a favorable vie of the rains reported in the southwe end. Trading was not particularly acti and fluctuations were somewhat irreg lar after the call, with near mont losing a point or two of the initial a vance, while later deliveries held w up to the opening figures.

LONDON MARKET.

LONDON, June 28The stock market was quiet and steady today. The absence of failures during the settlement induced fair investment buying in British securities and consols closed higher.
National Railway of Mexico shares advanced on bear covering and Paris sup- ported its favorites.
American securities opened steady and higher. Trading was quiet until the last half hour, when prices reacted a fraction under realizing. The closing was steady with Atchison 4 below and the rest of the list from 1/4 to 1/4 above parity. Money and discount rates were quiet.

Poet Laureates of the Past. From the London Chronicle.

The earliest mention of a poet laureate under that title occurs in the reign of Edward IV, when John Kay received the appointment, but a similar office existed as early as the days of Henry III, when centimes for the account Henry de Averanches was styled "king's versifier" and paid a stipend of 100 shillings per annum. The selection of the laureate was for long in the hands of Oxford University, and it was not until the reign of Charles I that the official appointment was created by letters patent.

These letters assigned the poet a salary

A Hundred Years of Locomotives.

The germ of the locomotive was first displayed by Trevithick, at the end of the eighteenth century, but he lacked the genius or the persistence to bring it to perfection. It was left to William Hedley, chief engineer of the historic Wylam colliery, near Newcastle-on-Tyne, assisted by his collegues, Timothy Hackworth, to produce in June, 1813 a pracand whistling. He struk a little tune Finnegan, whose train was off agin, tical locomotive steam enegine for use on that fitted his fancy, whistled it over, and on agin, has a rival in Donohue, the colliery railroad. DANGERS OF ELOQUENCE.

Injuries It Inflicts Upon the Nation That Tolerates It.

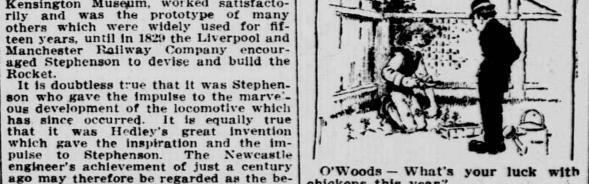

From Blackwood's Magazine. We cannot look back upon the persecution of Warren Hastings without perceiving the injury which eloquence inflicts enough for a blind man to read, taught upon the nation which tolerates it. If it me never to attempt to answer a letter be employed in the cause of justice it quence than by blood and fire. For eloquence, pluming itself upon its own cepts, I rue it; and I can feel the flush of volubility, cares nothing for the justice shame overspread my face as I follow a first letter of response with a second, rendered necessary by the belated discovery eloquence, momentarily powerful, is quickly transient. The vain words of the orator die upon the air. If they are captured by the reporter and set down in the coldness of print their folly is instantly discernible.

So easily is the ear deceived that the orator is not asked to make any sacrifice to grammar or logic. Words, gestures and rolling eyes are the materials of his craft. and it matters not how they are combined so long as they produce an instant effect. Yet those who are amateurs of the dangerous craft might reflect that the enjoyment of a triumph is sometimes Secured by thist Died of Trust on Real Estate. locomotive steam engine. It is, of course of his generation, and he did it all by the still less than a hundred years since the exercise of oratory. His speeches, debuilding of Stephenson's Rocket, and void of form and thought, died with the there are many who think of it as the silence of his voice. No single human first locomotive; but it was not, nor was soul is ever likely to read them again. by a histrion of genius, and thus did their work of evil. When Cicero fell his tongue was cut out by an angry woman, and were the same punishment inflicted upon some other orators the world would be an honester and a pleasanter place to live n. Nor will Hastings' commemorative lablet have been vainly set in Westminster Hall if it be accepted as a token not merely of Warren Hastings virtue but of the infamy of rhetoric misapplied.
